

A day in the life a Year 5/6 student

The Year 5/6 teaching team work flexibly across the senior cohort to provide learners with opportunities to engage in inquiry-based learning, where they are encouraged to share their strengths and illustrate knowledge in different ways. Key elements include:

- Personalising student learning
- Fostering a sense of independence and responsibility for one's own learning

- Students working collaboratively with a range of peers in fluid groupings across curriculum areas

- Teachers team teaching, creating highly engaging programs collaboratively and having collective responsibility over the cohort

- Innovative practices utilising flexible learning areas

Whilst all this is happening, teachers are continuing to collect and analyse a range of data sets to monitor student growth and achievement.

Students are regularly provided with targeted, specific feedback about their learning, and invited to engage in teacher-led conferences to ascertain new learning goals and next
